04-05/22 Prayer Letter Update

Greetings dear praying and supporting friends! I apologize for our late prayer letter. My computer had to be repaired, which took a lot of time and money, and unfortunately all of my important documents were only on that machine. That was a lesson in having at least certain files in an additional drive to be able to plug into another machine and access. The problem is fixed now and we are eager to share what has been happening in Taiwan. At the time of this writing, Taiwan is just starting to follow what the rest of the world has been doing as far as covid is concerned. Finally, people seem to be inclined to live with it instead of trying futilely to eradicate it and enforce overly strict rules. We hope this will return some of the lost ministry opportunities and liberties.

Allie is doing well! She is 4 months old and hilarious. We call her our “Attack-Allie.” Logan loves her to pieces and is a phenomenal big brother. He said “Da-Da” first, so the race is on with Allie to see whether she says “Da-Da” or “Mama” first. Please join me in praying that Allie will do the right thing. :)

We continue to help with the two churches in Neipu and Daliao, and occasionally help preach in other works as well. We were able to go with my parents to a tribal middle school in Laiyi. This was during the Easter season of taking the gospel to any school that would allow a session. The kids sure loved Allie and Logan! It is amazing the opportunities small children provide. There’s something disarming about a cute, very different-looking kid! My days of filling those shoes are very long gone. If you would continue to pray for Brady’s salvation, as well as several other young men I would appreciate it: Dario’s father is catholic, and Dario and I have had very good conversations about the difference between religion and saving faith. He likes Trump and America and would happily move there if he could. Dennis is my age and curious about Christianity and about me, apparently because I don’t quite fit his stereotype for what a missionary would be like. I guess that’s good? Stephen is an interesting guy who has studied abroad in all kinds of countries, from Europe to Abu Dabi in the middle east. He has amazing English, which he says he learned from netflix and youtube, but with his traveling background who knows. Stephen asks very pointed, un-politically correct questions and I am happy to be just as pointed with my answers. I love talking about the truth! These three men are managers at Brady’s gym at Donggang where I go sometimes with Brady.

There is also another gentleman that comes occasionally to our Daliao church. After preaching one Sunday Morning and mentioning catholicism and cults vs. the Bible truth, I was able to talk to him for a long time and very clearly, lengthily walk through the Gospel with him.

He wanted something (most people do) he could bring home that would fix his children and family. I told him he had to first fix himself before anything would do his family any good. There is no gimmick or substitute for salvation. If a plane loses cabin pressure, one must first properly fix their own oxygen mask before helping their children, else everyone dies. I told him there was nothing we could do to erase our sin, no sacrament or work or earthly suffering we could endure to satisfy God's demand. When I showed him that James tells us offending in just one point of the law makes one guilty of all, and that just one "little" sin could separate us to hell forever from God's presence in Heaven he lamented, "Well then what can a person do?" When it came time to ask if he wanted to be born again (which we discussed in length), after very carefully reviewing in his own words to make sure he understood, I pushed, "But what is keeping you from making this decision right now?" He hesitated a painfully long moment, then thanked me for talking with him and said he felt he wanted to, but maybe we could talk more about this another time. That was frustrating. That's essentially what Brady has done. Have you been there? When the Gospel is presented so clear and carefully and in the end, a person makes a personal choice? Please pray for him, that God would work on his heart!

We are coming back to the East Coast for furlough this Fall. We have not been on that coast in a while, and we also need to raise additional support since we now have a new little one, and Taiwan unilaterally increased the cost of living (and because of inflation) last year. Everything from groceries to labor costs is more expensive. We have been advised to raise almost $1,000 dollars more, especially if we plan to launch our own work, since ministry funds also come from our pocket. Please pray that God would allow us to find favor in this endeavor. If you are a supporting Pastor on the East Coast, and would like us to visit and report in person, please feel free to email me and Lord willing we can get a meeting scheduled. We will also be back home on the West Coast during the winter months. We would be happy to visit you as well!

Thank you again for your prayers and support, and God bless!

Expecting Great Things,

LOWER RIGHT: A temple to the "Princess of the 8 Treasures," supposedly a dutch princess who shipwrecked in south Taiwan in the 1600's. Actually, a memorial to the wife of an American ship captain and his crew who barely made it to shore after a storm in the 1800's and were beheaded by tribesmen on the beach. Many may be unaware that the US deployed Marines to that beach in vengeance for the killings. After chasing natives in the jungle for hours, they were forced to leave without ever having found a village or successfully enacting revenge.
