Dr. Leland & Naomi Johnson

Director of Deputation & Training
Director, Macedonia Institute for World Evangelism

June 15, 2026

With over 8,000,000,000 people in the world, most of whom do not know Christ, the question of "Am I doing enough?" is one that every Christian should wrestle with. I know it is a question that we think about quite often.

When we had to return from Brazil, we made the decision that we would never be a waste of missions dollars. We would rather find something else to do with our lives than waste the money that people sacrificially give to see the world reached with the Gospel.

For the past several years, we have been able to work with fifteen to seventeen missionary families, four in the West Indies and the rest on deputation. God has truly blessed this ministry, and we have even been able to mentor several non-Macedonia missionary families as well.

Recently, God has given us the opportunity to expand our impact. Many of you are familiar with Roger Baker, who faithfully served as the Director of Training for Macedonia but has recently had to cut back due to health reasons. God challenged our hearts to step up and fill the gap that was created. As a result, I am taking on two new roles with Macedonia in addition to my work as Deputation Director.

The first is Director of Training. This includes overseeing events like Refresh Week (June 22–25), where we will host around 20+ missionary families at the home office, as well as virtual events like the Missionary Power Hour for missionaries currently on the field.

In addition, I have stepped into the position of Director of the Macedonia Institute for World Evangelism, an online institute that helps train a new generation to reach the world. (When God allowed me to earn my doctorate in religious education, I had no idea He had plans to use it in this specific way!) This expands our ministry from the 15 families we were working with to now impacting the 120+ families with Macedonia.

Of course, we cannot continue to take things on without letting some things go. To that end, I have turned over the role of West Indies Field Director to someone who can give that region the attention it deserves. Between our new roles with Macedonia and our work with Missions21, your investment helps us impact nearly 350 missionary families.

To God be the glory! We are so incredibly thankful to represent you.
